Program Overview

The goal of Baby Scholars is to promote school readiness through parent coaching and early learning opportunities. We are committed to providing a strong foundation for helping children from five months to five years to grow smarter by promoting early literacy, language, and math skills along with strong social and emotional skills.

- Home coaching for parents and babies five to 19 months
  For 10 weeks a certified parent coach will come to your home and show you how positive parent and child interactions can help your baby's language, social, and brain development. Date and time will be determined by parent and Baby Scholars staff. You choose which day and time works best for your family.

- Home coaching for parents with their toddlers 20-35 months
  A 11-week quality curriculum with trained professionals helps you help your little one learns how to follow directions, take turns, recognize sounds and letters, and use more words. Families work with trained coaches one day each week. You choose which day and time works best for your family.

- Home coaching for parents with their preschoolers 3-5 years old
  A 11-week quality curriculum with trained professionals helps you help your little one learns colors and shapes, develop pre-reading skills, and be ready for kindergarten. Parents and their children work with trained coaches for one day each week. You choose which day and time works best for your family.
